

It's official...

... Facebook is now blocking news to Canadians.

Canadian news organizations large and small continue to publish information about communities, across the country. Journalism has never been as important. It is critical to informing the public, fostering the ideals of democracy and insisting on fair play for all citizens.

Although Facebook has disallowed the sharing of news with Canadians, community news is always available with us.

The Wellington Advertiser is here for you!

Delivered free to residents since 1968

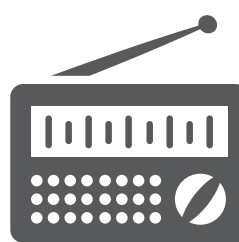

Serving you online since 1997
